Can you be seen?

Did you know that ADS-B allows air traffic and those around you to see your aircraft's location in the sky?

The Australian Government is currently offering a rebate program to encourage general and recreational aviation operators to install automatic dependent surveillance-broadcast (ADS-B) in their aircraft.

The government will provide up to a 50% rebate of the costs of purchase, and if needed, installation of eligible ADS-B devices until 31 May 2024.

Find out more about the safety benefits of ADS-B and what to consider before installing at casa.gov.au/adsb.
